

JAMES L. MAINOUS CEMETERY

Submitted by William R. Turner

The James L. Mainous Cemetery was created in the 1960's, out of fear that the Booneville Dam would be built on the South Fork River resulting in the Wilson Cemetery (located on Highway 11 south of Booneville, at Conklin) being placed under water. Some of the first interments at the James L. Mainous Cemetery were: Jesse Wilson, and Nettie Katherine Mainous, who were moved from the Wilson Cemetery.

The James L. Mainous Cemetery is located one and a half miles south of Booneville, Kentucky. Follow Highway 11 south one and a half miles turning on to Highway 1938 for two tens of a mile turning right on to a side road. Follow the side road to the top of the hill and you'll find the cemetery.
